Message from the County Commissioners

We are pleased to present this 2015 Annual Report for Clear Creek County. This is a result of our continuing effort to improve communication with our residents and taxpayers. Our County Manager, Keith Montag, County staff and Elected Officials have created this report that addresses our economic challenges.

This report is also a very important tool for private and public organizations, and we want it to serve as an educational baseline. Although the data is relative to 2015, it provides an excellent understanding of what the County is currently addressing. With the recent news regarding revenue loss from the Henderson Mine and the future County budget challenges, we want to share our understanding and the actions we are taking. There has been a lot of talk over the past few months, resulting in a great deal of anxiety and uncertainty. We want to clarify some developments and the actions we are taking.

Early last year, mine management reported to us that the life of the mine was ten years. In November of 2015, we were told production was being rescheduled to five years. In early 2016 we were told the production schedule could again be adjusted to three years or less. Bottom line, we can expect a reduction in revenue from the Henderson Mine in the future and this will affect our budget revenues by approximately 40%. So, we are looking at things like County services, expenditures, possible staff reductions and areas we can continue to improve and maintain, while remaining responsible to the taxpayer and the County’s core values.

We directed County staff to assemble data providing a ten year budget forecast with possible scenarios to enable us to understand the challenges and to plan accordingly with increased interest in attracting a sustainable revenue source. While there is a great amount of uncertainty, it is clear that our spending must be reduced as our revenues decline. We have enlisted the support and assistance from the State Government, and have recently been accepted into several programs with the State Economic Development Office that will provide us assistance.

Please do not hesitate to contact any of us at anytime with any concerns or questions. We are looking forward to a healthy, vibrant and sustainable Clear Creek County in the future. We look forward to your involvement, ideas and questions.

On February 29, 2016, Chairman Tom Hayden passed away unexpectedly. His hard work and dedication to this County are on every page of this annual report. And, we dedicate this to him. CCC
Message from the County Manager

What a year 2015 was! And, let me start by thanking the hard work and dedication of our amazing Clear Creek County Team. Thanks to you, it was a truly successful year full of accomplishments and significant achievements.

Throughout the year, we enhanced our communication, cooperation and transparency in the community, working with the towns, special districts, local business owners and the residents. Faced with the Henderson Mine production decrease and County revenue decline, this cooperation and teamwork is more important than ever.

While we’ve begun putting the Board’s and County’s priorities together (economic development, healthcare, workforce housing, transportation, Broadband, etc.), one of the biggest for me and my staff is economic diversity and development. Clear Creek County needs to attract more businesses, more families and more overall development to be successful and provide a level of service commensurate with the County budget.

What does this mean? In short, we have to change how we’ve “always done things”, if we are to survive a Henderson Mine potential closure and the dramatic loss of revenue. It means we have to look hard at the services we already provide and consider which ones are mandated by statute, and which ones are 'nice to have' but may not be economically feasible anymore. It also means we have to spend less, yet encourage growth to offset those lost revenues. We all have to work together developing those opportunities around the County, sharing information and effort, and facing the challenges we have.

I am extremely pleased when I look back at 2015 and see the accomplishments in the County. And, I am excited to have such a dedicated team for 2016 and beyond, knowing we will overcome anything that comes our way. Now is certainly our time.

Clear Creek County sits on the eastern slope of the Continental Divide, 30 miles and 3,000 feet above Denver. The creek (originally known as Vasquez fork) held the flakes of gold which drew miners to the mountains early in 1859. Gold and silver mining would be the early draw to the area followed quickly by tourists interested in the high peaks and cool air of the area around the Continental Divide.

Towns soon developed with Georgetown outgrowing rival Idaho Springs to claim the county seat. The silver mines of Silver Plume created a booming miner’s community while Empire balanced gold mining with its growing role as gateway to Berthoud Pass and the Middle Park area of central Colorado. By the mid-1880s the county’s population topped 7,800, only to drop to 2,100 by the 1930s as the economics of hard metal mining quieted the hammers and drills.

The county’s resurgence came as tourists continued to travel to the mountains, fueled by the growth of state and later federal highway systems. While the railroad left the county during the hard years of the Depression, automobile travel picked up and kept the county alive. The growth of the skiing industry after World War II added a new and valued industry as Berthoud Pass and Loveland Ski Area began to draw skiers as well as travelers that would drive through the county on the way to areas in Summit and Grand counties. The production of steel during World War II also spurred development of the county’s large molybdenum reserves.

By the 1950s people began to realize the value of the historic structures throughout the county. The older residential and commercial structures soon took on a new value, creating another industry: cultural tourism.
