

Gold Panning In Clear Creek County

Gold panning (a person with a pan - no sluice box, no dredge suction pumps) is allowed on Clear Creek County Open Space land and on United States Forest Service (USFS) land. If you pan for gold on private property, it should be with the consent of the property owner.

If the hunt for gold goes beyond "a man with a pan," the Colorado Division of Reclamation, Mining and Safety (DRMS) and the USFS may require the filing of Notice of Intent to Prospect. The Forest Service would also advise individuals to do research to determine if someone else may already be prospecting on an unpatented claim in their specific area of interest.

Can I build on a mining claim?

It depends what it is zoned.

Zoning Department

Not all mining claims can be built upon. It depends on what they are zoned. If you are intending to purchase a mining claim to build on, research the property before you buy it! You will need to contact someone from the Clear Creek County Zoning Department to verify that your claim is buildable.

Special Warning to residential users of M-1 zoned mining lands:

Mining lands may have physical hazards and environmental issues associated with past mineral exploration, production, and processing. Additionally, patented mining properties used for residential purposes remain subject to the provisions of Colorado State and Federal Mining Laws regarding rights-of-way, drainage, extralateral rights, and other provisions. Finally, mineral exploration, development, or processing may occur on adjacent or nearby lands at any time.

How can I access my property?

Sometimes access is the biggest problem.

Site Development

Access to mining claims can be difficult. There are many obstacles that can impede easy access. Roads are usually 4-wheel drive and non-maintained. You may need to cross private property to access certain mining claims, which could and probably will require an easement. Likewise, There may be issues with the ability to put in a driveway. It is best to consult with Clear Creek County's Site Development Department regarding driveway and access questions.
