

Rutherford Trail

Site 1:

In 1873 California Naturalist John Muir wrote to his sister: “The mountains are calling and I must go.” Certainly the call of nature was ever-present for those living in Georgetown, as illustrated by these ladies and their children who had just ridden up the narrow, sometimes steep road from Georgetown up to Green Lake. Photo from Wheeler family collection, courtesy of Historic Georgetown, Inc.